Compound Sentence Quiz English 9B, Alexander

As usual, you may use your notes or any technology devices you have with you today.

Student last trimester: "Do capitalization and punctuation count?"

Me:

1. Answer the following questions about compound sentences in one compound sentence (you can choose which type!): What is a compound sentence and why might a writer use them?

2. Using a different type than in number one, write one compound sentence explaining why you know that one of your e-mailed ads is targeted to teenagers. Please name the ad in your sentence (the Target ad, the Nike ad, the McDonald's ad, etc.).

3. Using the last type, write one compound sentence about how you have been influenced by an ad either this week or in the past. Again, please name the ad in your sentence.
